Philosophy of Fair Play

ASA (Association) has the authority to establish policies which govern its own affairs and to prescribe, monitor and enforce the conduct of its members pursuant to such policies. This Code of Ethics identifies the standard of conduct, which is expected of all Phoenix ASA (Association) members, including all administrators, coaches, athletes and officials. The Code of Ethics applies to all activities and functions of ASA (Association) including tournaments of all levels and qualifications, practices, travel, accommodation, banquets and social activities associated with competitive events. Individuals who violate the Code of Ethics may be subject to disciplinary actions.

A Philosophy of Fair Play

Fair play is an attitude, a way of thinking. Once it is learned, it can be applied to every aspect of life. Through involvement in sports, athletes learn about setting goals, making commitments, working hard and enjoying the challenge.

Athletes must learn to respect their own abilities and those of their opponents. As administrators and coaches we must attempt to have athletes realize that the joy of sports is as much in the total effort as in the final score.

As administrators, coaches, athletes, umpires and fans, we must work together to create an atmosphere of fairness, integrity and respect.

The three most important words in any Fair Play Policy are Fairness, Integrity and Respect and should be the principles of fair play always.

- Respect the rules
- Respect the officials and their decisions
- Respect the opponents
- Maintain your self control at all times
- Respect your teammates and coaches
